THE STATE LIBRARY.

In view of the fact that the new State Library building will be completed during the present year, the Legislature, during the recent session, passed an act entitled. "To provide for the removal of the several offices of the Capitol and the looks and door ments from the Library and books and documents from the Library to the new Library building, and to provide suitable furniture for the same, and also to provide for additional officers in said building."

At the request of the Cit; Council the cretary of the Commonwealth is autherized and empowered to appoint a suitable person, who shall be a citizen of Richmond, as an additional clerk to the Secretary of the Commonwealth. In accordance with the provisions of this act President Glover introduced a resolution in the Common Council at its last session, appropriating the sum of $1,200 for a year's salary of the clerk in question. The resolution also provides that the hours during which the State Library is to be kept open, shall be fixed by agreement between the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Mayor of the city of Richmond. The resolution was referred to the Finance Committee for its consideration and report.

Heretofore numerous complaints have been made by residents of this city on account of the limited time when the State Library may be visited. At present the institution is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. HER WORK BLESSED.

Results in Comparison Equal to Those Attained by Moody.

Miss Bessie B. Tyson, who Sunday, closed a three weeks' series of meetings, la quite as remarkable in her way as Mr. Moody and in comparison to the num-bers under her teaching, the results are quite as great.

Miss Tyson is a young woman of mature mind and body, old enough to comand young enough to appeal to their fresh minds and sympathies. She has a wonderful influence over chil-business-like air at once when any sfirn of restlessness appears in her juventle congregation, and her firm mouth has a congregation, and her arm mount quick and imperative way of closing into stern resolve, that is very efficacious in restraining them.

She is a Virginian, was trained in Moody's School, and works in conjunction with the great Evangelist a great deal, and has taught children the way to eternal life in Great Britain and America.

Mr. Moody has a high opinion of her abilities which he commended highly before her coming and of which she has giver excellent proof while here, She dresses very plainly but appropriately without the arts of personal adornment, and has a very pure and attractive, if not a pretty, face.

She took deep hold on the children of Bichmond from her first acquaintance

Richmond from her first acquaintance with them, and she now occupies a place in the nearts of hundreds of the juveniles of this city, that it would be futile for any one else to try to fill.

This was demonstrated in a very interesting, and to her, a very surprising way Sunday afternoon, when Mr. George F. Tibbitt, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in behalf of the children presented her with a magnificent soft leather back Bible in two volumes with many alice to ble in two volumes, with many aides to study and teaching not contained in the best standard editions.

The volumes were handsomely lettered in gold and a crisp ten-dollar bill peeped out as a book mark.

Miss Tyson was full of emotion, and unable to reply except in the briefest

Her talks to the children are of the plainest gospel character, but by the use of the black board and colored crayons with which she is remarkably expert the truths are brought to their under-standing in a very interesting manner. Her care that they shall not reach the decision of "taking a stand for Christ" and making a profession of faith without a full understanding of what they are leads her almost to sternness in her ad-from the stand behind her with ten chalk circles on it she filled the first with red, the next with the word frogs, the next with flies, and so on through the ten plagues of Egypt, she described briefly the experiences of the children of Israel while in bondage.

Then reaching the Passover she let down another curtain black-board with six neatly drawn cottages thereon, with the words over them. "When I see the blood on the door, I will pass over you." blood on the door, I will pass over you." She marked some of the houses—those of the children of Israel—with a red mark to illustrate the sprinkling of the door posts with the blood. Then letting down another curtain black-board, drew a cross with red spots on it to indicate the blood of Christ. From this, she drew two lines, one looking backward to the Passover, the other looking forward to the Lord's Supper—the new name given to the feast of the Passover by Christ. Simply and clearly she told of the atonement by blood and the significance of the Lord's Supper and its connection with the Lord's Supper and its connection with the crucifixion.

As an illustration of the many places in which the blood is a theme running through the word of God, she took a through the word of God, she took a smail piece of rope and holding it up, toid them that every piece of rope in the British Navy had a red line running through it, just as the sample which she held to view, and that the blood filled the British Navy had a red line running through it. ble from lid to lid.

when she was through every child, and no doubt, many grown persons had received new light on the significance of the Lord's Supper, and when the children who have been converted under her teaching go to holy communion they will go in full knowledge of what it means. Miss Tyson's visit to Richmond has been the cause of bringing joy into many homes, and the prayers of a large number of Christian people will follow her.

About One Half the Big Choir Sang Before the Old Confederate Veterans.

Immediately after the close of the sernoon about one half of the members o the big choir took the cars for the Soldiers' Home, to sing before the in-Solders' frome, to sing before the in-mates of that institution. The hymns "The Cross It prayer. The hymns "The Cross It Standeth Fast," and "Now the Day Is Over" were then sung and Rev. Mr. Hines, the president of the permanent choir, followed with another prayer, in which he embraced especially the old soldiers at the home. After singing "It Is Finished, What A A Gospel," Rev. Mr. Jacobs then made a few remarks to the old soldiers, stating that the love to Jesus Christ had brought the mem-bers of the choir out there. He trusted that the old soldiers who had been so willing to give their lives for their courtry, would also be willing to give their lives for Christ. In saying good-bye to the choir, Mr. Jacobs asked them as a favor to him to sing hymn 38, "God Biess You! From the Heart We Sing," which was promptly responded to. At the request of Mr. Jacobs some of the singers went into the hospital where they sang to the invalids who were unable to leave the building.

Several horses also became scared and for a moment it looked as if cared and for a moment in those as a all the horses who were left there by their owners would participate in the flight, but they were all stopped in time with the exception of one animal who started with a jumper for a short distance into the woods, before he could be stopped.

Allegations were heard in regard to the grading and paving of the alley between St. James and First and Clay and Leigh streets. A majority of the property-owners being opposed to the improvement, the committee Jecided to report the petition adversely. Similar action was taken in regard to the aliey on the west side of Randolph street, between Ashland and Claiborne streets. The City Engineer was instructed to have the last-named aliey filled up with dirt by hands and earts.

Mr. Neale, who owns a warehouse on Virginia street near the Richmond and Danville railrond depot, complained of a sewer in that street which floods his area and basement. Mr. Rolton, of the City Engineer's department, suggested, as a remedy, that a sewer be built on Cary street from Shockoe creek to Virginia street, which would cost about $13,000. He added that this new sewer should be connected with the Eleventh-street sewer, which would relieve the Gallego Mills from any danger caused by a sewer running under that structure.

City Attorney Meredith informed the committee that if the sewer be located according to Mr. Bolton's suggestion it.
